In the Gospel, Jesus uses two very simple images to describe the life of a disciple: salt and light. They are ordinary things, easily overlooked, yet both are essential. Salt gives flavour and preserves; light allows us to see and find our way. With these images, Jesus reminds us that faith is not meant to be hidden or kept private, but lived openly and generously.

When Jesus says, “You are the salt of the earth,” he is speaking to ordinary people, not experts or heroes. Salt only works when it is mixed in, when it disappears into the food. In the same way, Christian faith is most convincing when it is quietly woven into daily life — in patience shown at home, integrity in the workplace, kindness offered without being noticed. A small pinch can make a real difference.

Jesus also says, “You are the light of the world.” Light does not draw attention to itself; it simply shines and dispels darkness. We are not asked to dazzle others, but to reflect something of God’s goodness so that others may see clearly and take hope. A word of encouragement, forgiveness offered, a willingness to stand up for what is right — these are ways light shines.

The challenge in this Gospel is gentle but demanding. Jesus warns against losing our flavour or hiding our light. He invites us instead to live our faith in a way that points beyond ourselves, so that “seeing your good works, people may give praise to your Father in heaven.” Our everyday lives become the place where God’s light is made visible.

NEW ARCHBISHOP OF WESTMINSTER

Next Saturday, 14th February, our new Archbishop, Richard Moth, will be formally installed and enthroned as the twelfth Archbishop of Westminster. This is a special moment not just for Archbishop-elect Richard, but also for the Diocese. Please pray for the Diocese and Archbishop-Elect Moth, as well as the retiring Archbishop, Cardinal Nichols, during this time of transition. Admission to the Installation Mass is by ticket only. The Mass, which commences at 12noon, will be live-streamed via the Westminster Cathedral website: www.westminstercathedral.org.uk.

MONDAY MASS

Tomorrow, Monday, the funeral of the late Georgie Josephine Penfold RIP, will be taking place at 11.00am. There is no Mass at 9.15am on Monday.

THIS SATURDAY

Our Lady of Lourdes is the Patron of our Parish, and her feast day is February 11th. This year we will be celebrating the feast this Saturday, 7th February, with mass, at 11.00am. During Mass the Anointing of the Sick will be administered. This Sacrament is 'for those who are chronically sick, and of advanced age'. Everyone is very welcome at this Mass, and we hope that many will come and honour Our Lady, on this special day for our parish, everyone is welcome.
